

Europe Joined In Peace Given As U. S. Goal

LEXINGTON, Va. (AP) — President Johnson declared today that "we will continue to build bridges across the gulf which has divided us from Eastern Europe" in order to realize the Marshall Plan's vision of a Europe joined in peace.

"They will be bridges of increased trade, of ideas, of visitors and of humanitarian aid," Johnson said in an address before the "captains and companions" of the late World War II Army chief of staff and cold war Secretary of State, George C. Marshall.

"Noblest American"
Johnson described Marshall as "among the noblest Americans of them all. Not only a great soldier, not only a great statesman, he was first and foremost a great man."

Johnson's remarks came in a speech delivered at the dedication of George C. Marshall Research Library.

Assembled for the ceremonies at Marshall's alma mater, Virginia Military Institute, were Johnson, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, top officials of government, and more than 50 generals who served under Marshall during World War II.

Former President Harry S. Truman was unable to attend because of illness.

It was as secretary of state under Truman that Marshall proposed the plan to aid a war-battered Europe to get back on its feet economically.

"To Marshall," Johnson said, "permanent peace depended upon rebuilding all European civilization within its historic boundaries."

"The Iron Curtain rang down on that hope. But the correctness of his conviction has not changed."

No Sudden Change

The vision of the Marshall Plan, the President said, was to strengthen the ability "of every European people to select and shape its own society...to bring every European nation closer to its neighbors in the relationship of peace."

This, he said, will not be brought about by any sudden settlement or dramatic deed.

"But the nations of Eastern Europe are beginning to reassert their own identity," he declared. "There is no longer a single Iron Curtain. There are many. Each differs in strength and thickness—in the light that can pass through it and the hopes that can prosper behind it."

Johnson said the United States is pledged to use every peaceful means so that "all of Europe may be joined in a shared society of freedom."

"In this way, I predict the years to come will see us draw closer to Marshall's bold design than at any time since he stood at Harvard and began to reshape the world."

MAY CASE, 90, is probably the nation's oldest working newspaperwoman. She has been in the business for 75 years, and was honored today as the "Newspaper Girl of the Year" at the California Press Women's annual meeting in Los Angeles. Newspaper Girl Of Year Is 90

By HILMI TOROS

NEW YORK (AP) — Sometimes, life begins at twice 40.

At 80, Jeannette "Grandma" Rothberger gets her bachelor of arts degree today from the University of Arizona.

In Los Angeles, May Case, 88, pounds and 90 years old, gets an award as the "Newspaper Girl of the Year."

The passing years haven't bothered cosmetics manufacturer Helena Rubinstein, either. At the age of 90-plus, she routed would-be robbers in her Park Avenue apartment Friday with a firm, "Get out!"

The Soviet news agency Tass reported that Russian Shirla Mislomov doesn't mind advancing age, either. He turned down a six-mile car ride to a birthday party — his 159th, Tass said. Mislomov said he preferred to ride a horse to the party.

Mrs. Rothberger had wanted a college degree since 1901, when she landed at Ellis Island from Romania. But she had to drop out twice.

Thirty-four years ago she left college because of a daughter's illness. When she tried again in 1944, a cancer operation forced her out.

Now that she has achieved her goal, she doesn't plan to quit.

"I plan to audit courses, and learn typing, too," she said. For today's celebration she was going to dress up "like Mrs. Astor's plush horse," have dinner, a big birthday cake and some "dancing, too."

For Mrs. Case, today is the 75th anniversary of her debut in the news business.

When she was 16 she started setting type for the Purcell Register in Oklahoma. Then the publisher, Spurgeon S. Case, her late husband, "flew off the handle" and sent her back to pots and pans.

She returned to newspaper work and has been working for The Clovis Independent Register in California since 1924. A news reporter and travel editor, she says she has no intention of returning to pots and pans again.

Helena Rubinstein, reportedly 92, was found tied to a chair in her apartment. Three would-be robbers who gained entrance to her flat wearing deliverymen's uniforms asked the cosmetics manufacturer to open the safe.

"You can kill me," she told them. "I'm not going to let you rob me. Now, get out." They did.

In Le Roy, Wis., Louis Gruber, 91, who helped build the rectory of St. Andrew's Roman Catholic Church 73 years ago as a carpenter, was on the job Friday to help tear the building down.

Missing Plane Found Safe With Louisiana Men

LAREDO, Tex. (AP)—Police at Ciudad Victoria, Mexico, informed radio station KVOZ today they had been informed that the Piper Apache plane bearing deLesseps S. Morrison had landed safely.

The police said the plane came down on a small landing strip near Soto la Marina, 22 miles from the Gulf of Mexico in the Victoria area. The police said they were informed all aboard were safe.

Morrison had his youngest son, Randy, 7, on the trip.

The Secret Service chief at Matamoros, C. A. Munoz, identified others aboard the plane as Ovide J. Cenac, a Houma, La., businessman; a Chris Van Graft and a Mrs. Van Graft, and an N. Pilgrim, in addition to the pilot, Morrison and his son.

A Tampico businessman, Adolfo Bresling, said Morrison had been here last month for several days and consulted Tampico businessmen about a business transaction.

Morrison and a group of Louisiana men were interested in a meat-canning investment in the Tampico area, a Tampico newspaper said.

A former mayor of New Orleans, Morrison made an unsuccessful bid for Democratic nomination as governor in Louisiana's Jan. 11 Democratic runoff balloting. The winner was John McKeithen, now governor of the state.

Matamoros is across the border from Brownsville, Tex.

India Gets Loan
NEW DELHI, India (AP)—India and the Soviet Union signed a contract today for $49 million in Soviet loan aid for construction of a plant to manufacture heavy electrical machinery.

The general alarm fire — at times a solid wall of flame swept along by a stiff westerly breeze — roared through two blocks of the Andrew Square section Friday, destroying and damaging 35 three-family houses, leaving more than 300 persons homeless, and causing damage estimated at $750,000, all in an hour.

A total of 31 persons were hospitalized—several of them in critical condition — and more than 200 others were treated at the scene by emergency medical crews for smoke inhalation and minor injuries.

Robbers Snatch Camera Evidence

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Two gunmen canceled their own screen tests Friday by stealing the cameras and film. After taking $30,845 in a holdup at the American Fletcher National Bank branch in suburban Cumberland they pulled down two movie cameras that had been recording the action and took them along as they fled.

Votes Lacking To Gag Foes Of Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard B. Russell, leader of Southern forces, declared today that Senate leaders "do not now have the votes to gag us" with cloture in the civil rights debate.

Nor, he added, have the Dixie senators fighting the bill been able to muster the one-third support needed to block a move to limit debate.

Thus he indicated that if a cloture vote were taken now, the outcome would depend on the undetermined positions of a handful of senators.

"There are four or five votes we don't know where they're going," the Georgia Democrat said in an interview.

It takes two-thirds of the senators present and voting to shut off prolonged debate with cloture. This would mean 67 if all 100 senators were recorded.

Republican senators had their third caucus on the measure Friday. Afterward GOP supporters of the civil rights bill said they thought they would have enough votes, with the Democrats, to invoke cloture when the showdown comes.

But various senators had different estimates of how many GOP votes would be needed. And both Republican and Democratic proponents said they are counting on President Johnson to win over the few senators still on the fence.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he doubted whether a cloture move could be made before the second week in June. But he said the Senate would have to finish work on the bill in June because of a large backlog of work.

Romney Greet President And Irks Democrats

DETROIT (AP) — President Johnson led a merry tune during his Michigan visit Friday, but all was not quite harmonious between Democratic and Republican camps.

The President seemed to enjoy every minute of his two visits to Metropolitan Airport, before and after his speech at the University of Michigan commencement.

He shook hundreds of hands, disregarding the lines which Secret Service men had indicated to keep him at a safe distance from the crowds.

On his return trip from the university, he turned band leader for a minute, taking a baton to lead three combined bands in a few bars of "Happy Days Are Here Again."

Politics Injected

The estimated crowd of 3,000 who saw his second visit loved every minute of his music making.

But in the background of the Johnson visit there was some spirited jockeying by politicians seeking to be seen close to the President in newspaper and television pictures and by the cheering crowds.

The visit had been billed as "non-political" but Johnson ended that myth in the first minutes of his visit when he told the morning crowd of an estimated 28,000, "I don't want you to forget me later on in the Fall."

He also said one of his favorite tunes was "Will You Love Me in November as you do in May?"

Republican Gov. George Romney was on hand to greet the President, despite the grumbling of some Democrats who said he was self-invited.

When Dick Strichartz, an aide to Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh, called out the list of dignitaries as they would line up to greet the President, Cavanagh was listed as No. 1, Romney as No. 2 and Dean Marvin Niehuss of the University of Michigan as No. 3.

Governor By-Passed

A spirited discussion arose as to the protocol involved—whether the governor by reason of his office as the No. 1 citizen of the state should not head the line.

The discussion was settled with Romney, Cavanagh and Niehuss marching three abreast to the ramp on which the President descended from his plane.

Romney was first to shake his hand, but Cavanagh got the honors of introducing the President to the crowd and to the 24-man welcoming committee of industry, labor and religious leaders of Detroit.

There was some heat in both political camps about Romney's presence. Republican sources said the Detroit committee which planned the event had bypassed the governor and that he got his place in line only by direct negotiations with the White House staff in Washington three days ago.

Democrats were equally insistent that since this was Johnson's first visit to Michigan as President and since this is an election year, they should have the right to give some of their candidates exposure to the public.

Laos Asks Help To Squelch Reds

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The beleaguered neutralist government of Laos is seeking military and economic aid from the United States, Britain and France to stem the swelling tide of communism.

Premier Souvanna Phouma made the announcement Friday as U.S. jets continued their reconnaissance flights over Laos territory held by the Communist Pathet Lao forces.

One plane — a Navy RF8 Crusader jet — was hit by Pathet Lao ground fire but made it back to an American carrier in the South China Sea. U.S. sources in Washington said the plane had been slightly damaged and the pilot was uninjured.

U.S. officials indicated that the flights would continue, gathering information on Pathet Lao military movements as well as serving as a warning to the Communists of American determination in Southeast Asia.

In Washington there were new indications that the United States is preparing to expand its military role in Southeast Asia if Communist pressures does not ease on Laos and South Viet Nam.

U.S. officials said they had not yet received the Laotian request for help but disclosed the unarmed jet reconnaissance planes had been sent aloft Thursday at Souvanna's request.

Gunmen Kidnap Wife Of French Bomber Builder

PARIS (AP) — Two hooded gunmen kidnaped the wife of Marcel Dassault, French nuclear warplane builder, early today. Hours later a Paris newspaper said a caller demanded $2 million ransom.

The anonymous call amid a massive manhunt for the men and their getaway driver, who sped away with Madeleine Dassault, about 65, after pistol-whipping her husband, 72, and their chauffeur, Louis Dubois, 43.

Police said it was uncertain whether the ransom call to the evening Le Monde came from the kidnappers or a crank. The caller was a man, officers said, but there were no further details on the conversation.

Interior Minister Roger Frey had road blocks set up before dawn along the south auto route where the kidnap car headed. Special squads watched airports, and frontier guards were on full alert.

A yellow and black sedan, believed to be the getaway car, was found abandoned later two miles from the scene of the crime.

Dassault, an ardent Gaullist and member of the French National Assembly, was not seriously injured in the attack, nor was Dubois. The gunmen apparently lay in ambush in a stolen panel truck as Dassault's car stopped in front of their luxurious home facing the Bois de Boulogne.

Mrs. Dassault tried to free herself as the kidnap car rolled up. She threw herself to the sidewalk, but the men bundled her into the car and sped off.

Dassault, maker of the supersonic atomic bomber, the Mirage IV, telephoned police.

No immediate motive was clear, although there was some speculation that remnants of the anti-De Gaulle Secret Army may have had a hand in it.

Seven hours after the kidnapping police had received no demand for ransom.

Two motorists chased the getaway car, but it outdistanced them on the freeway leading to Versailles and beyond.

An eyewitness, Marcel Le-saux, 45, of Paris, said Mrs. Dassault had whacked one assailant in the stomach with her umbrella. Her gold powder compact was found on the sidewalk.

Dassault designed the propeller for the famed World War I Spad fighter plane and built various military and civilian planes from 1918 to 1939.

He now is producing the supersonic, delta-wing, jet Mystere Mirage bomber. The plane, fourth in the Mirage series, is to haul France's nuclear bomb as the backbone of de Gaulle's nuclear striking force.

The Dassaults have two sons, Claude and Serge.

Primary Date Set At Sept. 1 By Legislature

LANSING (AP)—Michigan today had 19 new congressional districts, and two primary election dates on the books — one before and one after the new districts officially take effect.

After months of feuding, lawmakers got together on a compromise redistricting bill Friday, but were unable to muster the votes to give it immediate effect.

As a result, the new districts will not take effect until weeks after the scheduled Aug. 4 primary.

Lawmakers passed legislation changing the primary date to Sept. 1—but that, too, does not take effect until after Aug. 4.

Kelley Studies Bill

As the bills went to Gov. George W. Romney for signature into law, the state attorney general was studying the situation.

In an informal letter, Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said a reapportionment-related bill might have "retrospective" effect if the intent of the legislature is "clear and imperative." Lawmakers hoped this would permit wiping out the Aug. 4 primary.

But the attorney general's office warned that a formal opinion might upset this principle. A spokesman said several requests for a formal opinion are expected.

The redistricting plan was expected to preserve the present 114 Republican edge among Michigan U. S. congressmen. It passed the House 60-37, with only three Democrats approving, and passed the Senate 19-5 a short time later.

Democrats Blamed

Despite the fact that it cannot become law until 90 days after the legislature adjourns, State Elections Director Robert Montgomery said his office is preparing to accept nominating petitions from candidates in the new districts.

Other plans discussed during the hassle could have made the Republican edge as much as 13-6 or as little as 10-9.

Romney praised the majority in both houses for "acting responsibly on congressional redistricting and election dates under very trying circumstances."

He blasted Democrats for blocking immediate effect provisions.

"It is difficult to understand any logical reasons why immediate effect has been withheld... both (bills) had their origins in bipartisan support," he added.

U. P. Traffic Chief Retires

Frank C. Schwarzenberg, Upper Peninsula traffic engineer of the Michigan State Highway Department, was feted at a retirement-birthday party at the Sherman Hotel in Escanaba on Thursday evening with about 50 persons in attendance.

Schwarzenberg, who was 70 years old Thursday, will retire after 30 years of service with the Michigan State Highway Department.

Master of ceremonies was Roger T. Murray of the Escanaba office, who introduced Harold Cooper, director of the traffic division, and Lowell J. Doyle, assistant director, both from Lansing.

Cooper presented a plaque to Schwarzenberg in recognition of his service to the department. Assistant District Traffic Engineers Larry V. Suboski and William F. Savage presented 70 silver dollars, mounted on a board in the form of his initials, F. C. S., to Schwarzenberg.

A congratulatory telegram was read from Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie. Letters were also read from Managing Director Howard E. Hill, Director for Administration Frederick E. Tripp, and Director for Engineering John E. Meyer.

For the past 19 years Schwarzenberg has been traffic engineer for the entire Upper Peninsula, which has almost 1,700 miles of state highways. He began work with the Department as a transit man on a survey crew in 1937, and in 1940 transferred to Crystal Falls as acting district engineer in the western half of the U. P. Except for a three year period of duty in Lansing in World War II, he entire career has been north of the Straits.

Schwarzenberg was born on May 21, 1894 in Gooding, Mich. He attended the University of Michigan and Michigan Technological University and graduated in 1917 with B. S. and E. M. degrees. He was employed as city engineer of Wakefield and chief engineer of the Quincy Mining Co., Hancock, before joining the Highway Department. He resides at 1115 College Ave., Houghton.

College Classes
Lured Outdoors

Escanaba's recent sunny weather is moving Bay de Noc Community College classes out-of-doors. The variety of exposures on the sloping campus lawn gives instructors a choice of wind-sheltered spots to get a group together.

Jack Romstad's theatre class is using the north lawn as a scenery construction site. This is the first time many of the students have used hand tools.
Kay Weingartner's two-handed sawing and Jean Michael's endless search for a spool of horizon line are class highlights.

Cancer Program
At Bark River
Harris Meeting

BARK RIVER—At the Bark River - Harris PTA meeting held Wednesday evening at the elementary school, Robert Essen, president of the Delta County Cancer Society, gave the background of services offered by the society and showed a film, "The Million Club" which dealt with the different types of cancer. Dr. N. J. Theis-en, Escanaba, gave very informative and explanatory answers to questions posed during the question and answer period which followed the film.

Members from the beginners band presented some musical numbers: Dolores Kuharski, trumpet and Betty Lu Krause, tombone in a duet played
"The Julia Marie Waltz"; Connie Schoen, soloed "The Bluebird Waltz" on the clarinet and Lynn Bartoszek played "Evening Shadows" on the saxophone. All were accompanied by Miss Carol Jean Ahlin at the piano.

Supt. Kenton Holm announced that the library will not be opened to the public during the summer as previously announced, due to lack of funds. Vision and hearing screening of preschool children will be held June 11-12 at the school. Volunteers for this program are Mesdames Wayne Hooker, William Constantineau and Stanley Mazur. Children in the Fluoride Dental program will go to Powers June 11-12 and June 16-17.

The PTA will contribute $50 to the Student Loan Fund. The room count award went to Mrs. Barr's sixth grade room.
Cub Scout Master Philip Norman presented the Cub Scout Charter and expressed thanks and appreciation to the PTA for sponsoring and aiding the Cub Scouts during the past year.

Mr. Holm, who is leaving July 1 or Washburn, Wis., where he will be city superintendent of schools, was presented with a gift by John D.
Krause, president of the PTA.

The new officers: president,
Marvin Ray; vice-president,
Mrs. Roy Michel; secretary,
Mrs. Philip Norman; Treasurer, Mrs. Arthur Fournier and historian, Mrs. Marvin Ray, were installed by past-president Leo Knauf. Lunch was served by the second grade mothers.

Obituary

MARKO RODMAN

Funeral services for Marko
Rodman were held at a Solemn Requiem High Mass at 11 a.
m. today at St. Thomas the Apostle Church. Father Arnold
Thompson was celebrant, Father Lawrence Gauthier, deacon, and Father Donald Shiroda, sub-deacon. Burial was in Holy Cross Cemetery. Pallbearers were Nick Joran, Nick Brayak, Nick Berish, Steve and George Rozich and Mike Brkopek.

Other instructors must be content with less entertaining activities such as lectures and discussions. Max Riedlsperger's German classes have taken their new vocabulary out into the sunshine. The students claim they are learning a great deal; but since nobody else talks the language, only their instructor knows for sure.

Arni Dunathan's literature students have brought their activities out into the open. The class contends that recordings of Shakespeare sound better outdoors where the sound is less confined.

Other instructors are still holding out against rising student pressure. Some classes which require a lot of paper or blackboard work do not lend themselves to open air teaching. By the summer session, however, more and more classes are expected to take advantage of Bay College's terraced lawns and lake breezes.

Everyone agrees that it is pleasant. Besides, if the wind is right, the neighbors can pick up a little tuition-free education.

Nurses Degree
Course Planned

Thirty registered nurses in the area from Manistique to Powers-Spalding showed interest in a degree course which Bay de Noc Community College proposes to offer in a meeting at the college Thursday night with its officers and representatives of Michigan State University.

Many of the nurses feel the need for more education, especially those in administrative work, and the proposed course would supply it. The nurses have already acquired a proficiency in clinical practices to qualify for Registered Nurse status, but lack the English, biological science and sociology courses that would be required for a Bachelor of Science degree.

Some campus work would be necessary, but the nurses were told that much of the work could be done at Bay de Noc College and that a counselor from the MSU campus would be here June 29-30 to counsel with them on their individual needs.

Degrees would be granted by MSU or by the University of Michigan and eventually perhaps by Northern Michigan University when it qualifies to grant a degree in registered nursing.

You Asked . . . Here's My Answers!

Dear Clara:

Do you have backing from any one group that expects you to do something specific for them if you get elected?

Just Askin'

Dear Just Askin':

I have the whole-hearted support of my husband, Robert Mosenfelder, on the condition that after June 8 I will iron his shirts and mate his socks.

Other than that I have made no promise what-so-ever, except to do my darndest to provide the best possible education for all children within the economic limitations decided by the voters of this community.

Clara Mosenfelder
Candidate for School Board

Dear Clara:

I have heard that you are very single-minded. Is that the same as being narrow-minded?

Dear L. L.: (For Lotsa Luck?)
Why ask anyone if she's narrow minded? If she admits it she isn't.

As for being single-minded
I'll plead guilty. As a Mother
I find it impossible to forget that all the community has a responsibility to all the children. Public Schools are our way of doing for our children co-operatively what we can't do as individuals.

Sorry if the single-mindedness has offended your friends I still think it's better than being scatter-brained.

Clara Mosenfelder
Candidate for School Board

Dear Clara:

Why do you want to compete with all those men?

Whatever happened to the idea that a woman's place is in the home?

An Old-Fashioned Girl!

Dear Old-Fashioned Girl:

Not compete, Dearie, co-operate.

The idea that women have something to offer when it comes to raising kids isn't exactly new. Most Mothers both understand and care quite a bit about the needs of children, and I don't believe that our responsibilities to all children stop when we shove our own out of the door at ten minutes to nine.

Come to think of it that sounds pretty old-fashioned, too. You and I would get along just dandy.

Commencement Oratory

Commencement oratory now resounds in the land as the graduates pause in the process of leaving school to get a diploma, a handshake and some advice.

Some schools have dispensed with commencement talks, no doubt tried beyond their endurance by speakers who strung enough cliches together to reach from here to the moon. The good commencement speech is as rare as the good speech in any setting. Usually journeyman and tried-and-true, it can on rare occasions be wonderfully inspirational.

The setting is such a happy one, to start with. A sea of bright young faces in front of bright young minds. It must be true that most speakers are more impressed with the graduates than the graduates are with the speaker. For one thing they've got their lives ahead of them and their expectations are jet propelled and orbital, while the speaker "has it made" and the actuality proves to be not as good as the expectancy was.

Famed newspaper cartoonist Bill Mauldin visited the Upper Peninsula recently with officials of Field Enterprises, Inc., which syndicates his work, and he made a comment that could be an appropriate theme for a commencement talk. He said that he was glad to have had his "success" early, because it showed him that it didn't amount to much, and that with it behind him, he could go along with his work.

Mauldin wasn't being facetious in suggesting that it's helpful to have what so many people imagine is the climax of life come at the beginning—to have the desert first and the fame early. But he qualified his observation importantly. He said it was good to have success early "if you survive it." There's the hitch; so many don't. It marks them and they then devote themselves to a silly lifetime of supporting an image of themselves whether it makes sense or happiness or not.

There must be a lot of graduates this spring who are resolved to work like sixty until they have made their stack and then to coast. Mauldin was one of the most famed cartoonists in the world when he was a young man working for Stars & Stripes, the service newspaper. He had worked very hard to prepare himself for that chance and he was lucky as well as able and he scored tremendously with his cartoons of Willie and Joe. They spoke the frustrations of all American servicemen of World War II. ("Never mind another Poole Heart; just gimme a han'ful of aspirins.")

Mauldin showed his stature as a creative artist by repeating his wartime success as a peacetime newspaper cartoonist. This is a tremendously difficult transition, but he managed it very well. His segregation cartoons bite as deeply as his wartime cartoons did. (The Montgomery, Ala., cop with a ballbat points to a Negro and says to his fellow officer: "Let that one go; he says he doesn't want to be my equal.")

Did any commencement speaker in tiny Mountain Park, New Mexico tell Mauldin what success would mean to him? Did he say: "If you're successful you'll have to work like the devil and be discontented with most of your work, but you'll have a very satisfying and challenging life." That would have been prophesy. That's the way it has worked out for Mauldin.

He doesn't have inspirations; he sweats out his cartoons. They're making him wealthy but with his "success" behind him he says that only one of several hundred cartoons is great or enduring. The work is what is important to him; the effort, the struggle to create something specially significant and moving.

This would be pretty hard to sell in a commencement talk. The student who didn't react with "Yeah, yeah, big deal," would be a strange bird in the Class of 1964.

Finding The Way

Light For Murky Waters

By RALPH W. LOEW, D. D.

We were flying at an altitude of 15,000 feet, and talking about life at the bottom of the ocean. My seatmate was a distinguished scientist whose technical skills are assisting in the development of the possibilities of underwater exploration.

He told of the problems of breathing, the necessity of understanding the strange underwater sounds, and the enormous challenges of the pressure of the sea. Among other problems he recounted the dilemma of the pioneer who ventures from his protective capsule. Garbed in his strange sea costume he starts out to explore the ocean depths, searching for new oil reserves and minerals, or just making surveys of the ancient topography. Immediately he kicks up mud and is lost in a cloud which he himself has aroused.

The situation is a vivid one. We can consider all the angry turmoil stirred into blackness by our own endeavors. The man at the bottom of the ocean will be protected by a kind of radar device which sends out sound waves, and "sees" for the man who is able to understand the pattern. Suppose that we had such a moral sound wave or a clear sense of what we call God's providence?

It's this which the ancients discussed in their search for a way of life. A casual reading of these events in Scripture would seem to indicate that these worthies thought of God as a kind of divine sound ray, keeping them out of scrapes and difficulties.

This is true only when we understand that in all of their dreams and visions, God was sending them back to their tasks.

Read your Bible and you are impressed with the fact that these persons were never delivered from dealing with the problem. This wasn't any "pie in the sky" kind of religion. It sent the ancient prophets and their later counterparts into the

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Evidence is accumulating here that the Chinese Communists are building an underground in the Soviet Union.

Reports reaching the U. S. government say the Red Chinese are even making attempts to build "Mao Tse-tung Communist cells" in Moscow—composed of opponents of the Khrushchev group.

But Mao's men are more active in working with the considerable number of minority groups spreading throughout the Soviet Union. The Red Chinese efforts extend over a much greater area than the territories Red China claims the Soviet Union conquered from old China in "colonial wars."

The fragmentary reports arriving in Washington indicate the heaviest and most successful work being done by Mao's agents is in the southeastern part of the Soviet Union which is heavily Asian in background.

It is also an area where the Russians have been markedly intolerant of racial minorities. They have wiped out native Communist parties and their leaders and have frequently replaced the leadership with non-Asian Russians. For the most part, these Asian minorities have not found it easy to rise in the Soviet economic or political hierarchy. Poverty is widespread.

The Russians are attempting to solve the problem in part by moving in European Russians as rapidly as possible in order to outnumber the native people.

In some areas this program has been successful. But in about a fifth of the area of the Soviet Union, the native Asians still form a heavy part or a majority of the population. Asian peoples account for about 14 per cent of the population of the entire Soviet Union.

There is reason to believe the Chinese may be finding fertile ground among the Uzbeks and Kazakhs.

The Soviet Union has stepped up "political education" among these peoples.

Soviet reports say "mysterious agents" have been crossing from the Chinese side of the frontier into the Soviet Central Asian territories where only a little more than 30 years ago the last of the Turkic-Basmachi rebel bands were overwhelmed by Russian troops.

(When Soviet Russian armies reinvaded Central Asia in 1918 to crush the newly independent Moslem states, the long Basmachi rebellion ensued, continuing intermittently until the 1930s. It was effectively crushed.)

Barbara Swaer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Swaer, has been notified that she is the recipient of a merit award for her participation in the 7th annual Mathematics Prize competition conducted in the State of Michigan in December. Barbara was recently named winner of an Alvin M. Bentley Foundation Scholarship to Bay de Noc Community College for 1964-65.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Neil of Ocon to were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Swaer recently.

Mrs. Alpha Thibault returned Monday from a week's visit in Ortonville with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Thibault and their infant daughter.

NEWBERRY — The Jaycees are planning a different Fourth of July celebration for Luce County here this year. Effort is being made to get every religious, fraternal, recreational and business organization to take part in a big parade and another attraction will be firing of the "Mighty Luce County Cannon" to shower money down on the playground, "symbolic of this great land of plenty." There'll be a "Catch Me — I'm Yours" contest with two animals to go to their captors, a truck covered with balloons and all the ice cream and pop that the kids can encompass.

MUNISING — If voters approve in a June 8 election, Au Train School will cease to be a junior high school and become an elementary school next fall. One proposal would discontinue the 7th grade and transport pupils to another school and a separate ballot proposes discontinuing the 8th grade and transporting its students.

IRON MOUNTAIN — Before one of the largest audiences in the history of the local municipal court Judge William Bolognesi sentenced four youths to 90 day jail terms for assault on a 14-year-old Iron Mountain youth. Sentenced were Mitchell Leinen, Iron Mountain; Patrick Hayes, Raymond Gardepy and Michael Richtig, all of Kingsford.

STAMBAUGH — Carl Neiminen, of the high school faculty has been named acting superintendent of schools in the absence of Dr. K. Hart Puffer, who is convalescing after surgery and will be away several months.

IRON RIVER — M. E. McCornock and Lowell Lindstrom, area realtors, have announced purchase of the Delft Theater, Iron River, and Perfect Theater, Stambaugh and property at Ice Lake from the Delft Theater Corp. of Milwaukee. The Ice Lake property was bought by Delft as site for an outdoor theater which was never constructed. McCornock and Lindstrom said they purchased the properties for resale and to keep the Delft here open.

Upkeep Easy In Cave Home

AP Newsfeatures

Think about this for a minute:

A 10-room home that requires no exterior painting, no roof repairing, no changing of screens and storm windows and no worrying about damage from high winds.

There is just such a place on the grounds of the New York World's Fair—but you wouldn't know about it if it weren't for a huge sign telling you so. For this is an underground home, complete with all modern conveniences, including, believe it or not, an "outdoor patio."

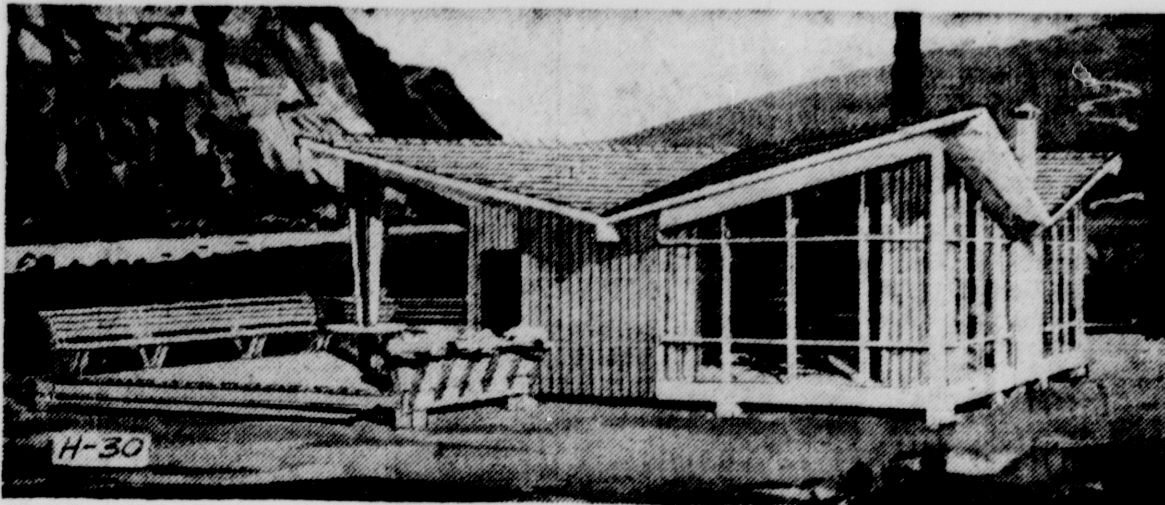

The underground home is the brainchild of Jay H. Swayze, who has lived with his wife and two daughters in a subterranean house in Plainview, Tex., for the last two years. Both his home and the one at the fair have a concrete shell set under more than three yards of earth. Because the home is underground, air conditioning is an absolute must, and this means fingertip control of humidity, pollen and dust as well as temperature. General Electric engineers who designed the air-conditioning equipment for the exhibit home discovered that it required only about half as much air conditioning as would be required for the same size house above the ground. However, extra equipment was installed in this case to take care of the extra body heat thrown off by the thousands of visitors passing through the house.

Does Swayze really believe people will want to live underground? He not only thinks they will, he predicts that within two years there will be buildings of underground residences in every American community of 100,000 or more population. He also sees a number of commercial and industrial adaptations of the underground idea, with special possibilities in the areas of motels, roadside restaurants and service stations that would be cheaper to operate while helping to keep the countryside beautiful at the same time.

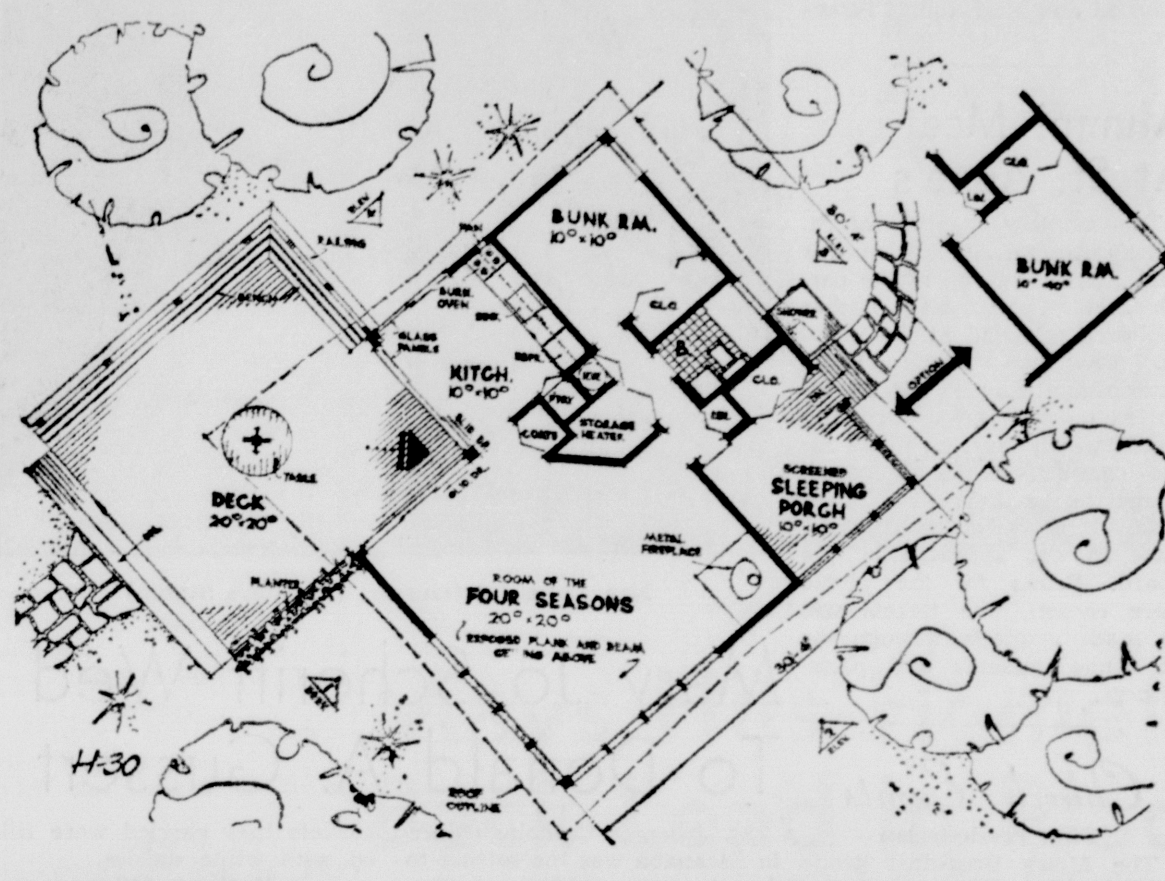

Removing wall switch plates is a lot easier than painting around them. More important, you won't get paint on the plates and you'll have a much neater result.

House of the Week

Simple And Attractive

LEISURELY STRIKING: Architect York's house features a dramatic roof line and a broad deck at one corner. On the opposite corner is a covered sleeping porch or, as an alternate, a second bunk room.

H-30 FLOOR PLAN: The house proper contains 718 square feet; the deck is 400 square feet and the sleeping porch 100 square feet. Dimensions excluding the deck are 30'4" by 30'4".

ADAPTABLE SPLIT: Architect Matern's design can be adapted to the slope of the terrain merely by adding or eliminating risers and varying the roof pitch. The basic house is 768 square feet, not counting the deck.

Unusual H-30
York's home features a dramatic roof line formed by a simple pair of cross gables set with the ridges running from corner to corner, opening each corner of the house to ridge height.

Set around one structural corner, adjoining the kitchen, is a 400 square foot deck with a built-in table. On the opposite corner is a covered sleeping porch, screened, and accessible to the bath and linen facilities. As an alternate to the porch, York offers a second fully enclosed bunk room.

The main room is 20' by 20', has a metal fireplace and an exposed plank and beam ceiling. The adjoining kitchen has adequate room for dining.

The exterior is done in vertical boards to simplify cutting of the wall surface because of the sloping roof line. The roof should be of medium size cedar shakes, says York, to avoid over-powering the scale of the comparatively small building.

Split-Level H-31
Architect Matern chose the split-level approach to take advantage of varied terrain conditions at most vacation spots.

The cottage features extremely simple post and beam construction—three beams and posts in the roof and four beams and concrete block piers in the floor. A handyman could build the wall panels (on a 4' module so that 4' wall panels could be used easily) in his basement and truck them to the building site himself.

If the slope of the ground is extreme, the split may be increased as much as eight risers. If the grade is level the house could either remain a split or become a one-story by eliminating the stair and reducing the roof pitch.

The main lounge room is completely open to the broad deck, and the opening units are simplified: individual glazed doors hinged together and hung on folding door hardware.

Inside is a movable pre-fab fireplace, an extra fold-down bed in the lounge, an inside-outside shower arrangement, and a well designed kitchen with a pass-through serving bar to the lounge.

Mary Jo Scheriff Wed To Donald A. Gussert

St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Escanaba was the setting today for the wedding of Mary Jo Scheriff of 1354 1/2 Cherry St., Green Bay, and Donald A. Gussert of Greenleaf, Wis.

Father Jordan Telles, OFM, solemnized the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Scheriff Sr., 1020 9th Ave. S., Escanaba, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Antone Gussert of Greenleaf. Servers of the Nuptial High Mass were two brothers of the bride, Anthony Scheriff and Herbert Scheriff Jr.

The reception from 3 to 7 p. m. at Marco's Starlite Room will be followed by a wedding dance.

Bride's Gown

The bride's floor length gown of nylon organza over taffeta was detailed with long sleeves with button closing. Bands of Venice lace trimmed the scoop neckline and midriff. The full skirt fell in soft pleats with a back bow, organza rose and a detachable chapel length train. Her two tiered veil of imported silk illusion was caught to a headpiece formed of a single organza rose in the center of a leaf cluster and pearlized sprays. White carnations, centered with red roses, and trailing ivy formed her cascade bouquet. At the close of the ceremony she placed three long-stemmed roses on the altar of the Blessed Virgin.

Identical floor length dresses of powder blue were worn by Mary Lee Brunelle of Bark River, honor maid for her cousin, and Margaret Mary Scheriff of Green Bay, also a cousin, who was bridesmaid. The gowns were made with draped sleeveless bodices, with a white inset of blue daisy applique and pearl trim, wide straps attached with small bows, and soft panels which fell from a butterfly bow at the center back. Their headpieces were matching shade and the wicker baskets they carried were filled with white daisies.

No Expansion For Grid Loop In Near Future

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Relaxed and optimistic American Football League owners have decided to wait at least until 1966 to admit new cities into the league. The AFL expansion committee will carry the ball until then.

Joe Foss, AFL commissioner, said questionnaires will be sent in the next few weeks to the 20 groups involving 34 individuals from more than a dozen cities expressing interest in joining the league, which starts its fifth season in the fall.

The committee headed by Lamar Hunt, Kansas City owner, will screen the backgrounds of all individuals and study drawing potential and facilities in each area.

"A team or two might be voted into the league in 1965,"

Fans are reminded that the season tickets sold in advance will be honored for Sunday night's league openers. The season tickets are good for all except tournament games.

Willie Mays

Mays Hits Homer, Takes Back Lead In Place Race

By The Associated Press

Willie Mays made four hits—none without a bat.

Willie, the captain, made a big hit before the game when he turned in San Francisco's line-up card to the umpires.

Willie, the player, made three big hits during the game, collecting his 17th homer and two singles and regaining the National League batting lead while the Giants retained the league lead by walloping Pittsburgh 8-3.

Making his debut as team captain, Willie ambled to the plate before the game, and ran smack into his first inspection.

Head Umpire Chris Pelekoudas asked Mays to review the Candlestick Park ground rules.

Willie did, and headed for the dugout. He never got there.

Umpire Vinnie Smith, smiling broadly, asked for a repeat performance for the benefit of the other umpires.

Mays, however didn't do anything for the benefit of the Pirates.

He drove in the Giants' first run with a single in the opening inning, singled in the third before Willie McCovey and Orlando Cepeda hit consecutive homers and then hammered his homer in the sixth.

The 3-for-5 performance lifted Mays' average to .405, giving him back the batting lead he lost to Billy Williams of Chicago Thursday. Williams went 1-for-5 in the Cubs' 9-1 walloping of Cincinnati and dropped down to .393.

Elsewhere, Philadelphia's Chris Short shut out the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-0 on eight hits. St. Louis belted Milwaukee 6-1 behind Curt Simmons' three-hit ter and the New York Mets edged Houston 2-1.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox defeated Washington 3-1, the New York Yankees nipped the Los Angeles Angels 4-3, Baltimore downed Minnesota 6-5, Kansas City took Boston 4-3 and Cleveland whipped Detroit 5-3.

The Giants on Mays' line-up card rattled 16 hits off Pirates' starter Steve Blass and three successors with Tom Haller also connecting for a San Francisco homer. Ron Herbel won it with Ken MacKenzie's ninth-inning relief help.

Simmons, 6-2, got home run support from Ken Boyer and Julian Javier and the combination was more than enough for the Cardinals. Felipe Alou collected two of the Braves' hits and Joe Torre the other. Torre scored the Milwaukee run when he singled in the fifth and moved around on a walk, an infield out and a fielders choice.

The Colts scored against Al Jackson in the sixth when Jim Wynn singled and raced home from first on Walt Bond's single. The Mets finally broke through in the eighth when Roy McMillan and Ron Hunt singled and Frank Thomas doubled for both runs. Larry Bearnarth got the victory with Hal Brown taking the loss.

Tigers Maroon 11 Runners As Cleveland Wins

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Detroit Tiger base-runners were like freeway pedestrians Friday night. All they could do was look.

The Tigers left 11 runners stranded as they absorbed their third straight setback, 5-3, at the hands of the Cleveland Indians.

The Indians marooned only two runners. Four home runs helped clean the bases.

Larry Brown poked two home runs and a single, driving in three runs, and Max Alvis and Jerry Kindall chipped in with solo homers for Cleveland.

The homers were hammered off Detroit starter Mickey Lolich, who gave up all of the Indians' runs in a futile bid for his fifth victory.

Brown and Alvis teed off in the first inning. Brown, the second man to face Lolich, drove in two runs with his blast over the left field wall.

Kindall homered in the second and Brown connected again in the fifth.

Jack Kralick was the winner, but was lifted in the seventh.

The Tigers picked up an unearned run in the fourth. Singles by Don Demeter and George started the inning. Bill Freehan, who had forced Demeter, went to third on Dick McAluliffe's fly to center. Woody Held made a wild throw to third and Freehan scored.

Don Wert doubled to open the Tigers' fifth and Jerry Lumpe doubled him home. The Tigers got their final run when Freehan homered over the left field fence.

Ed Rakow, Larry Sherry and Julio Navarro finished up on the mound for Detroit.

Supervisor Put On Spot By New Change In Tax

The new Michigan Constitution and new state legislation to implement it is going to make some major changes in taxing practices.

Peter Ross, director of the Delta County Tax Department, reported on some of them that were reviewed this week at the meeting of the Upper Peninsula Association of Tax Directors and Appraisers at Iron Mountain with Robert L. Purnell, chairman of the State Tax Commission and Commissioner Ward G. Dixel.

The broad implications of the changes in Senate Bill 1248 are that the state is shifting more of the burden of tax accounting from itself to the counties, as the federal government earlier shifted much of its accounting onto the citizens and their employers.

The new changes in tax levying and billing do not make county tax departments mandatory, but they put such heavy pressures upon the county supervisors for conformity with complex regulations that there is almost certain to be a general creation of county tax departments.

7 In U. P.

At present there are tax departments in 28 of the 83 counties of Michigan to help the supervisors and other statutory tax officers with their work. Of the 15 U. P. counties 7 have tax departments. They are Delta, Menominee, Schoolcraft, Alger, Dickinson, Houghton and Baraga.

For the first time Michigan taxpayers will get their tax bills with the state equalized valuation of their property listed along with the tax rate and amount of their bill. This implementation of the "truth bill" long advocated by taxpayers may please them, but it won't please tax officials.

The new regulation to require listing of the state equalized value makes a lot of work for them and virtually requires a county tax department to cope with the paper work involved. In the years since the state required that the state equalized valuation be the valuation on which taxes are levied, counties have arrived at tax bills on individual properties by a formula.

They took the county equalized valuation (set by the local assessors) and then used the ratio of county assessed valuation to state equalized valuation to determine how much should be added to the bill to meet the state figure. The state equalization process fixes a valuation on a county (to be spread across all its properties) to assure a uniformity and equity of valuations between the various counties. The change from the previous year's valuation is determined by totting up the net sum of new valuations and valuation losses.

The law says: "Effective Dec. 31, 1965, the tax roll and tax statements shall clearly set forth the latest state equalized value for each item of property."

Another item of large implications for taxpayers requires that any person having personal property shall file a sworn statement with the supervisor or assessing officer by Feb. 20 of each year. "A real property statement may be requested by a supervisor, assessing officer or county tax or equalization department."

Homeowners' Role

Ross said he thought any practical enforcement of this rule would have to exempt householders' personal property. Present practice is to exempt $5,000 of personal property as home furnishings and this covers 90 per cent of U. P. homes.

Other new tax practices:

1. All personal property shall be assessed where it is situated.

2. County tax departments are given with assessing officers the right to examine books for personal property assessment.

3. A taxpayer who has incorrectly overstated his property statement may file a revised statement and petition the State Tax Commission for revision of his assessment prior to June 30, and shall be granted opportunity for a hearing.

4. Property shall not be assessed at a greater percentage or proportion of true cash value than 50 per cent.

5. The board of tax review shall be made up of three tax-paying electors who shall be appointed by the township board, and the supervisor is removed as a member and made secretary of the board without vote.

6. Requires that the board of review promptly notify the person who is charged with the assessment in event of any change by the board of review on an assessment so that the person has opportunity to attend the second meeting of the board.

7. Provides both real and personal property shall be equalized at the same proportion of true cash value in a county.

8. Provides for mandatory establishment of equalization departments in all counties before Dec. 31, 1968.

Incredible Move

Henry Ford II, a major tycoon of the automobile industry in the United States, has made an announcement that is difficult to believe.

He has declared his support for President Johnson in the forthcoming election. We detect deeper thoughts in his incredible move.

He must be thinking of the forthcoming negotiations with the UAW-CIO. If Walter Reuther, George Meany and Mr. Ford see fit to sleep in the same bed, then the fundamental principles of the free enterprise system in the United States, are being completely destroyed.

This type of labor-management maneuvering at the top level, which affects the entire national economy, is something that should be seriously considered by every voter in the forthcoming election.

It appears to us that Mr. Ford is leading the way for a sweet union relationship for the automotive industry.

We give him credit for his effort, but we hope and expect the clear-thinking people of this country to see fit to differentiate between big business and national welfare.

At this point it is our sincere hope that the most moderate and conservative factions of the Republican Party will see fit to nominate Nelson Rockefeller, the New York governor, for the Republican nomination for President and select a suitable running mate.

Mr. Ford's declaration for President Johnson in advance of either the Republican or Democratic convention is a Caesar-like proclamation to the American people.

With his billions to play with, it would now appear that he is not only interested in the sweetie-pie contract for the motor industry, but also of a sort of God-like role in running the political economy of the United States.

If every chief executive of a corporation as large as the Ford Motor Co. took a similar position, we would be approaching something resembling an industrial-political takeover of the American government, under which all of the mighty units of state and local government would be mere puppets.

To the best of our knowledge, never before in the history of our country has such a large corporation and its top executive in a position of such power attempted to influence the political thinking of the American people.

Mr. Ford's fabulous coming out party for his daughter and his recent divorce proceeding can be condoned, but what cannot be condoned is the use of the brute force of the Ford Motor Co. in a national election, even preceding the conventions.

When industrial giants and big labor giants and big political giants all sit at the same table with complete disregard for the common man, we are well along the road to fascism.

In preference to the aforementioned diabolical triangle we would take our chances with the ticket headed by Mr. Rockefeller with a straight course, affirming the tried and true principles of our American democratic system.

Henry Ford II Backs Johnson

DETROIT (AP)—Auto maker Henry Ford II says he will support President Johnson for reelection no matter whom the Republicans nominate.

Ford, board chairman of the Ford Motor Co., said Friday his vote for Johnson would be his first for a Democratic presidential candidate.

His endorsement was given to Johnson during the President's brief stopover in Detroit.

Ford described Johnson as "terrific" and predicted the President would have no trouble winning in November. "He's doing an excellent job as President," Ford said. "I've heard him say many times that he's for all the people in the country — for business, labor and the general public. I agree with what he says."

Ford's comments were made as Johnson shook hands with politicians and some of the 25,000 people who greeted him at Detroit Metropolitan Airport. The President stopped briefly en route to deliver the University of Michigan commencement address at Ann Arbor.

Hot, summer-like weather continued to warm areas even as far north as the Canadian border, where early morning temperatures were still in the upper 60s. They followed a blistering 98 Friday in Marquette, Mich., about 40 degrees above the normal this time of the year.
